

How to Get Started on Flickr: Registering!

Flickr is a photo-sharing site, but there's much more to it than simply posting snapshots for friends and family.

Step 1: Go to Flickr.com

First things first, go to Flickr.com to start creating your first account.

Step 2: Create your Account

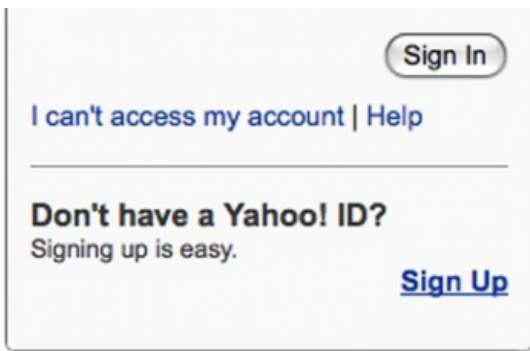

From the homepage, locate the "Create your Account" button to start the registration process.

Step 3: Yahoo! Profile

The next screen will ask you to get a Yahoo! account if you don't already have one. Why? Because – surprise, surprise! – Flickr is owned by Yahoo! If you have a Yahoo! account, enter your username and password and move on to step 9. Otherwise, go to Step 4!

Step 4: No Yahoo! Account?

Don't worry, just scroll down to the bottom of the page to the section titled "Don't have a Yahoo! ID?", then click "Sign Up."

Step 6: Your First Yahoo! ID

You're one click away from owning your first Yahoo! account. Once all the fields have been filled, click "Create My Account" to finish off this bit of the registration process.

Step 8: Login

Logging into Flickr is done through the Yahoo! portal. Now that you are registered, enter your selected email address and password to move on to the Flickr interface.

Step 9: Choosing your Flickr Name

Welcome back to those who already had a Yahoo! ID! We've reached my favorite part of the whole registration process: choosing your Flickr name! Choose a name that people will recognize, like your Facebook ID or your shop/blog's name. You can always change it to something else later.

Step 10: Your Flickr Page

Ta-da! You've done it. This is your main Flickr interface. We will cover this section of Flickr in another Byte-Syze Learning tutorial. In the meantime, you can head over to Meylah's flickr page or start sharing your amazing craft and art pictures in the photo pool! Stay tuned for more tips on how to get started with Flickr!
