

How To Use Twitter Lists

Twitter Lists are like groups that you can follow or create for yourself.

Step 1: Creating a List

Click on link "New List" as shown.

Step 2: Adding Details for the New List

Create a list name, a short description (100 characters only) and select if this list is going to be public or private. Then, click on "Create List".

Step 3: Adding Content to Your New List

One way to add (follow) to the list is to search with a keyword or name. Type in a keyword, a person's name, etc. and click on "Search."

Step 4: Using Your Search Results

Let's say the keyword you typed in was "jewelry" and the search results gave us the list of people associated with this keyword. You can add anyone from this page to the list by simply clicking on middle button which drops down all the lists that you have created. Remember, you can have multiple lists and add anyone to any and all of your lists.

Step 5: Your Twitter Page is Updated with Your New List

Now your new list is added to your twitter page and by clicking on it you can manage your list.

Step 6: Managing Your List

In this screen, you can add new members to the list by repeating steps 3 and 4 above or you can also manage the list by clicking on "View List Page."

Step 7: View List Page

In this screen, you can change the title, description of the list or delete the list altogether. You can see how many people the list is following or how many are following the list, as well as the number of tweets in the list. Anytime you want to edit details of the list, you can do it here by clicking "Edit." or you can also add new members to the list.

Step 8: Other Ways to Add to Your List

You can always add to your list at any time while you are on someone's Twitter page. Click on the "Lists" button and select the list that you would like this person to be in.

Step 9: Managing All Your Lists

An easy way to check all the lists you are a member of or the lists that you have created is to click on the link "Lists" on the top right side of your Twitter page. This will take you to all the lists that you follow or the ones you are listed in. By clicking on an individual list, it will take you to the list and all the tweets in that list.

Step 10: Finding Lists to Join

You can find lists you may be interested to join while you are on anyone's Twitter page. On the right side of the Twitter page just like yours, you can click on any of the lists. You can add yourself to follow the list by clicking on "Follow this list." You can also search for lists at Listorious, a great resource for Twitter Lists.

Step 11: Unfollowing a List

Sometimes you may think that you might have made an error in following a list or you just don't want to follow it anymore. It is very simple to undo this by going to the list that you are following and scrolling down until you see a link under Actions called "Block Listname". Click on it and you are not following this list anymore.

Try to start one list today and add anything that interests you to your new list. I am sure that you will benefit from using Twitter Lists!
